We are having a giveaway this week to help our readers practice and improve their ZTAB skills. The winner will have two weeks to complete a challenge given to them by one of the members of our writer community. All you need to do to enter the giveaway is to be a registered member of our site, like ZTAB and our forums. After that, it's just a matter of writing and improving your skills. The members of the community who will review and give feedback to your entry, is ZTAB's community manager, the publisher of ZTAB, Marcello Mijailovich, and your fellow writer, @jerrylvr. The contest will be made up of 10 challenges from the 10 member of the writer community. All the writing prompts for the 10 challenges have been selected by me, the ZTAB editor. They are given to me by the writers to help them get better and improve their skills, as well as to help me practice my own ZTAB skills. You can enter the giveaway by answering the ten writing prompts for the ten challenges below: If you can, you should post your responses to our forums, the author's comments or the ZTAB community's comments sections. But there is no need to, as you can share it with all our readers who may be interested in taking part in the contest. -Question 1: What is your work environment? -Question 2:
